

Climate change influences severe weather by causing longer droughts and higher temperatures in some regions and more intense deluges in others, say climate experts... Worldwide, citizens are adjusting to new weather realities.

— National Geographic

Observed U.S. Precipitation Change

