

Brand Insight

Even while they're pulling the strings that tie together our lives, IBM has a low perceived impact in the minds of the general public.

The Daily-ish Forecasters live their lives through their technology. Constantly switching attention between apps and devices, our target makes choices mostly on what they see online.